

Privacy Policy WestLegal

With this privacy policy WestLegal Advocatuur (WestLegal) informs you on how we handle your personal information as a user of our website.

The security of your personal information

You can consult this website anonymously. Only if you send an email through this website to us, we obtain your personal information.

If you send WestLegal an e-mail, we only use your personal data to answer it. In the context of a business relationship, we can send general information relating to legal developments or relating to our office. WestLegal can also process your personal information to comply with legal obligations, or - if any - within the framework of the (performance of our) services. Your information will not be shared without your consent to third parties unless this is necessary for processing your request, the execution of our services or if there is a legal obligation to do so.

WestLegal wants your personal information to be as safe as possible. WestLegal also strives for a safe transfer of your personal data. WestLegal has taken appropriate technical and organizational measures to protect your personal data against loss or against any form of unlawful processing. We process your personal data in accordance with the Data Protection Act and other applicable privacy laws and regulations.

Your rights

You have the right to ask WestLegal right to grant access to your personal information and / or to correct, amend, delete or protect it. A request to inspect and / or correction must be submitted in writing or by email to WestLegal, Eerste Constantijn Huygensstraat 82-III, 1054BX Amsterdam or via info@WestLegal.nl

If you receive commercial information from us and no longer wish to receive such information, please indicate this free of charge at the above post or e-mail address. We will then send commercial information more.

Modifications

WestLegal may change this privacy policy. The amended policy will be communicated on the website. If after the adjustment continued use of the website, the amended Privacy Policy will apply to this use of application. On this website you can always read our privacy policy.
